

Research grants for young European Materials Scientists and Engineers for a stay at a German institution

The German Federation of Materials Science and Engineering (BV MatWerk) and the German Research Foundation (DFG) call for applications of young researchers aiming at a 12 month stay at a German institution.

Entitled for this program are young researchers working in the field of MSE who obtained an advanced degree after January 2007 and are currently affiliated with a European research institution or university outside Germany.

Applications should include:

- a concise description of the project to be carried out in Germany
- a letter of acceptance of the German host institution
- a detailed CV of the candidate with a list of publications
- two recommendation letters

They are to be sent before October 1st, 2008
